

Wind Shifts Avert Gaspe Forest Fire Disaster

Peril Forces More Family Evacuations

ST. BERNARD DES LACS, Que. (CP)—Residents of the northeastern Gaspe Peninsula heaved a cautious sigh of relief today as firefighters appeared to have battled raging forest blazes to a standstill.

Helped by calm, damp weather the weary, smoke-blackened volunteers were able to control flames within the 300 square-mile area they were burning over and threatening four towns with destruction. But the situation still is perilous officials said.

Red Cross headquarters at St. Anne des Monts, 12 miles north of here, reported today that 72 families had lost their homes and all their belongings in the flames and 218 people had been evacuated from settlements within the perimeter of the fires.

Four houses in this community 350 miles northeast of Quebec City were burned Monday and 150 people were evacuated but today it appeared out of danger as winds turned the flames south into the interior of Gaspe Park. About 25 families living in log and frame houses along the trans-Gaspe highway between St. Anne des Monts and New Richmond were taken to safety Monday after four dwellings were burned.

Authorities have placed the total number of houses burned at 25, with an undetermined number of barns and stores also destroyed. So far there have been no deaths or injuries reported.

WOMEN, CHILDREN OUT

In Quebec, Henri Feiffer, chief of forest protection services, ordered all women and children in the fire-threatened area evacuated, with all able-bodied men left to fight the fires. He said the weather has improved considerably but heavy rains are desperately needed to prevent the fire spreading farther through the tinder-dry timberland.

Premier Duplessis today asked the minister of lands and forests for a complete report on the fires so that "necessary measures" could be taken. He did not elaborate.

At St. Anne, L. O. Roy, who is directing Red Cross relief efforts, said the weather has given residents new hope.

He said the Red Cross has found shelter for all evacuees and has passed out blankets, food and clothing to them.

A provincial police sergeant who flew over the fire-area said the aircraft was still in smoke at 10,000 feet.

Meanwhile other fires were reported blazing in the peninsula.

RICH TIMBER BURNS

At St. Poulin, 30 miles west of here, 200 men fought a blaze eating toward the Cap Chat River and St. Octave, a lumbering village just across it. The fire scorched through a 10-by-five mile area of rich timber and farm land.

South of Matane, 60 miles west of St. Bernard des Lacs, another fire has flamed through a stretch two miles wide and eight miles long. Some of the families in nearby St. Nil have moved out and others remained on the alert.

A new report said a fire was burning 90 miles southeast of here. It was reported creeping toward Chandler, near the eastern tip of the peninsula. Three miles of timber were burnt.

SET UP SHELTERS

The Red Cross has set up aid stations at Cap Chat and St. Anne des Monts on the St. Lawrence River coast north of the fire-ravaged area. There were some 200 homeless persons or evacuees at the stations. Red Cross officials said many others had probably moved in with friends.

Jean Berger, area radio station reporter who saw the wind-fanned flames at work at this tiny village 350 miles northeast of Quebec City described them this way:

"Flames jumped from one hill-top to another as embers carried by the wind streaked across the sky like meteors."

He said the gusts reached 60 miles an hour but died down to about 15 miles an hour Monday night.

MAYOR ORDERS PROBE OF KELOWNA CITY JAIL

Clarke Condemns Unsavory Lockup

By ALBERT DENEGRIE
Daily Courier Staff Writer

Severe criticism about conditions in Kelowna city jail has spurred further investigation into the possibility of establishing police in other than City Hall quarters.

City council Monday night admitted the present jail was unsatisfactory from every standpoint. Mayor Parkinson set up a three-man committee to again look for another site, obtain full requirements and costs, and to report in full at a subsequent council meeting.

Ald. Donald Horton, chairman of the finance committee, heads the special investigating committee. With him are Ald. Dennis Crookes and Ald. Ernest Winter.

The main criticism came from the city's medical health officer, Dr. D. A. Clarke. He wrote that he had received four complaints of overcrowding during the past year and that as a result of the latest one, he had inspected the jail over the weekend.

Recounting that there were eight men confined in the lockup where there were only four bunks, he said the prisoners were being "confined in most unhealthy conditions and I feel that immediate steps should be taken to rectify the situation."

Dr. Clarke said that when he visited the "very dark and stuffy" jail, the temperature inside was 82.

None of the inmates is supplied with a mattress. They have to sleep on the steel bunks, but have blankets, if required.

If all the bunks (each is inside a separate steel cage) are occupied, anyone else in the lockup has to sleep on chairs or on the floor. Also, without mattresses!

The lockup is situated on the east side of City Hall's main floor, north end. It is space rented to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

According to its contract with the RCMP, the city must supply suitable space for jail purposes.

Council has been trying for years to get the police and jail moved to other quarters both because it is realized facilities are unsatisfactory and inadequate and because the city needs the space for administrative staff and storage.

WEEKENDS WORSE

Weekends are usually the worst time, for then jail space often is at a premium to accommodate men picked up for drunkenness, rowdiness and impaired driving.

Operating on a "shoe-string" budget now, council, when the medical health officer's letter was read, first suggested the matter be left until next year when more money may be available.

The mayor and aldermen readily admitted the lockup was a "mess."

But it was the remarks of the city comptroller, Douglas Herbert, that prompted the mayor to set up the committee now and to try to find a speedy solution.

Said Mr. Herbert: "You'd appreciate the situation better if you saw it yourselves at its worst."

UP TO CITY

"We're going to have to face this sooner or later, and now it looks as if it's going to be sooner," Ald. Winter observed.

"Why can't we ask for a meeting with the RCMP big wheels?" he asked.

Replied the mayor: "We'll only be told that it is up to us to provide the quarters."

The mayor went on to recall how the council tried to get the police and jail moved over to the old power house. But the costs of rebuilding and renovating would have been prohibitive. It was finally decided to tear the old power house down, leaving only the standby electrical pump which can feed water from the lake beyond the yacht club direct into the water mains.

SEPARATE SECTION

There is a separate section set aside for women prisoners. This is used for male juveniles, if there are no female inmates.

Mr. Herbert told council last night that occasionally when the local lockup becomes overcrowded, the police may find accommodation at the Vernon or Penticton lockups.

Relief of the overcrowding, however, depends upon whether there is room at either of the other two cities and whether the local force can spare a man, or men, and a car to take the prisoners to the alternate jail.

Castro Agrees To Resume Premiership, Slaps Critics

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro, who was swept back into the Cuban premiership by an enormous popular demonstration, had called for the purpose says he will bow to "the will of the people" and resume office.

The 32-year-old revolutionary leader asserted that Cuba is not a protectorate or colony of any other country but a free sovereign nation and "we have to account to no one."

Castro said Cuba wants to be friends with all nations but cannot be with those "who offend us, who insult us and who exploit us" or with any vested interest which tries to "impose itself on the destiny of our people."

In 2½ hours of talk, Castro did not mention communism. He referred to it only obliquely, when hitting at his critics, but appar-

WEATHER

Forecast: Cloudy with sunny periods today, a few showers in afternoon. Mostly sunny Wednesday with afternoon cloudy periods, a little warmer Wednesday; winds northwest 15. Predicted low tonight and high Wednesday 50 and 80. High Tuesday and low overnight: 77 and 53.

REGATTA TIME is fast approaching in Kelowna. And when the 53rd annual international splash—the world's leading water show—gets underway August 12, and continues to August 15, native daughter Joan McKinley, now a Hollywood aqua star, will be around to make it a smashing success. Pictured above, Joan poses for Courier cameraman Kent Stevenson, in this "Regatta plug". By the way, that fella in the background, there . . . he seems to agree this year's Splash'll be a humdinger and, to fact, according to Joan, he's roamin' around right now to advertise the event.

B.C. ROUNDUP

U.S. Fishermen Capitalize On B.C. Fisheries Tieup

VANCOUVER (CP)—United States fishermen are taking large numbers of albacore tuna off the British Columbia and northern Washington coasts. Canadian boats are tied up because of a fisheries strike.

It is the first time since 1949 that albacore tuna have appeared off the coast in quantity.

Fifty U.S. boats Friday averaged 100 fish each in an area 50 miles off Destruction Island to 40 miles off Estevan Point. Returns of more than 200 fish per boat were reported Sunday.

The Canadian fisheries protection cruiser Laurier, rigged with tuna fishing gear for test fishing, has reported good catches averaging 20 pounds a fish.

Tuna have been reported as far north as 80 miles off Cape Cook, near the north end of Vancouver Island.

It is the first time since 1949 that albacore tuna have appeared off the coast in quantity.

SPRINKLING CURB

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Householders here have been restricted to sprinkling their gardens on alternate days until mid-August when the city's water pump is expected to be repaired. The pump burned out in June and no spare was available.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENT

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Mayor Tom Alsbury of Vancouver has invited more than 200 motorists participating in the Yellowhead Highway caravan to visit the city and the Pacific National Exhibition. The cars will leave here Aug. 25 after a luncheon before Magistrate Oscar Orr next Monday.

BUY NEW MASKS

PENTICTON (CP)—One hundred masks used for mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration will be purchased by the city at a cost of 75 cents each and placed strategically nearby on the shores of Lake Okanagan and in all city vehicles.

FIRE CHIEF RETIRES

PENTICTON (CP)—Fire Chief Merv Foreman will retire at the end of this year, city council announced Monday. Deputy Fire Chief Wally Mattick will be his successor Jan. 1.

REROUTE ROAD

PENTICTON (CP)—City Council asked the advisory planning committee to study the possibility of rerouting a proposed 100-foot-wide scenic road along the Okanagan River. Council said the new road should not be built on land needed for a new sewage disposal plant.

REJECT PROPOSAL

PENTICTON (CP)—City Council Monday voted 3-0-2 in favor of permitting explosives to be transported through downtown Penticton. Earlier, Alderman Elsie MacCleave suggested the subject should be presented in the fall at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention.

NEW ASSOCIATION

NAKUP (CP)—The Highway Six Association was formed here Monday by 50 representatives of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce served by the Nelson-Vernon highway. They will attempt to improve the road.

INCREASE BAIL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bail was increased by $3,000 Monday for George Bernard Shaw, 26, who was arrested Sunday on a robbery charge while free on $2,000 bail on a charge of passing counterfeit money. He is scheduled to appear before Magistrate Oscar Orr next Monday.

WORK HAS STARTED on installing stop-and-go lights at Harvey and Richter. The city is responsible for installation and maintenance but the highways department is supplying the equipment.

WINDBURN AND SUNBURN the past three weeks caused many of the city's flags on Bernard Avenue's centre-street lamp posts to take on that faded look.

RCMP HAVE RECOVERED a boat stolen last week from the foot of Beach Ave. The 10 foot fibreglass craft was found covered with brush near McKinley Landing. The motor was found a short distance away.

PRAIRIE BRIEFS

FIND MAN'S BODY

BROOKS, ALTA. (CP)—Police Monday recovered a body from Rock Lake, 100 miles southeast of Calgary. It was believed to be that of one of two Calgary men reported missing on a fishing trip. Missing were Thomas Elliot and William Markin.

PIONEER DIES

EDMONTON (CP)—Charles W. Willis, founder of a pioneer printing firm here and first subscriber to the Edmonton Journal, when it was published Nov. 11, 1903, died Monday. He was 87. He was owner-manager of his own company until his retirement in April, 1958.

SEEKS LEADERSHIP

REGINA (CP)—Wm. Gardiner, Liberal member of the legislature for Melville, said Monday he definitely will seek the leadership of the Saskatchewan Liberal party. Liberal leader A. H. McDonald announced last Friday he would relinquish the post at a Liberal convention this fall.

HOLDUP FOILED

WINNIPEG (CP)—Police Monday arrested a suspect in the attempted robbery of a Winnipeg bank earlier in the day. The hold-up man fled empty-handed after a girl teller told him: "don't be silly." He was to be arraigned on an attempted robbery charge today.

SENTENCE YOUTH

BRANDON (CP)—Roger Gauthier, a Quebec youth, Monday was sentenced to one week in jail after he pleaded guilty to stealing a parking meter. He told the court he took the meter with the hope of obtaining money, but wasn't able to open the box.

PARADES, PRIZES, POP!

SoCreds To Play Summer Santas For Kelowna Kids

Hi kids! Do you want to win a bicycle.

Well, get busy. The big day, marking another milestone in B.C.'s colorful history is about at hand.

Next Saturday, August 1, at 2:30, there will be a mammoth parade of decorated bicycles, costumes, your favorite pops, wagons, tricycles—you name it—in the City Park Oval.

This gala event is part and parcel of the seventh anniversary birthday party of the B.C. government.

Rutland Fire Brigade Halts Dangerous Country Blaze

Rutland School Gets Overhaul

RUTLAND (Special)—An estimated $50,000 improvement program is continuing on the old brick school here.

It is expected that by fall term opening interior of classrooms will have been modernized and worn floors and stairways replaced.

The school was built in 1912 and contains four main classrooms upstairs and four basement rooms.

Organizers of the celebration have left no stone unturned to make sure this will be a memorable day for British Columbians.

Many other valuable prizes for other categories also will be given away. There will be a minimum of three for each individual section.

COLORFUL PARADE

Boys and girls 14 and under are eligible to enter this colorful parade. All you have to do is to turn up at the City Park Oval at 2:30 p.m. and take part in the parade.

First prize for girls will be a bicycle.

Grand prize is a bicycle for a boy and a girl with the most colorful costume or decorated unit.

The Rutland Fire Brigade was called out to fight a fire of unknown origin in a 20-ton haystack, on the farm of Stewart Daniels, Monday.

The high wind spread the fire to surrounding grass and swept it toward the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friesen, but the brigade was able to halt the blaze in time.

One outbuilding, a sawdust shed, caught fire. The haystack was a total loss, as the fire had too strong a hold to save it.

The stack had been sold two weeks ago, but the purchaser had not hauled it away. This is the first call received by the Rutland firemen in three months.

Vernon Airport Meeting Tonight

Courier Staff Special

VERNON—A joint meeting of city council, Flying Club members and Tri-Way Service executives will be held this evening.

City council recently notified the club that an airport hangar would be leased to Tri-Way, effective August 1.

The letter contained a stipulation that the lease would be invalid if an agreement could not be reached with the Flying Club.

Lease of the hangar will leave four Flying Club planes without facilities. The club has maintained the airport since it was abandoned by a commercial service about eight years ago.

OLIVER (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Potter, residents of Oliver for 31 years, have been named citizens of the year here.

The two-man Progressive Conservative opposition voted against it.

SMALLWOOD CARRIES HASSLE TO PEOPLE

Newfoundland Faces August Vote

BULLETIN

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Lieutenant-Governor Campbell Macpherson dissolved the Newfoundland legislature today as Premier Smallwood cleared the decks for a quick general election.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A mid-August provincial election is in prospect for Newfoundlanders with Thursday, Aug. 20, mentioned as the likely date.

Premier Smallwood announced the impending vote in the legislature Monday night. He said the issue will be federal financial aid for Newfoundland under the Confederation terms of 1949. Newfoundland law requires at least 21 days between the election proclamation and voting day. Sources close to the Liberal government say the proclamation is expected Thursday.

In calling the election, Mr. Smallwood has carried a dispute with Prime Minister Diefenbaker directly to the people. He said earlier his government's resolution condemning Ottawa's rejection of Newfoundland demands would have to be carried unanimously by the legislature or he would ask for an election.

The two-man Progressive Conservative opposition voted against it.

Fall Fair's Prize List Complete

By Courier Correspondent

WESTBANK — Chairman John Seltenrich presided over last week's fair board meeting, at which the directors made up the prize list for this year's fall fair, scheduled for Friday, Sept. 4.

This annual event, originally sponsored by Westbank Women's Institute, has, in recent years, been in joint charge of members of that body and men from the once-active Westbank trade board. This group gave time and thought to the fall fair, thus contributing largely to its continued growth.

PRIZES DONATED

Contributions from individuals and business firms provide the prizes, and classes include fruit, vegetables, flowers, baking, canning, all sorts of needlecrafts, handicrafts, and opportunities for youngsters to exhibit their home and school work, pets and other projects.

Photography is a class in which youngsters and adults may exhibit their skill; besides which space for handicrafts, flower-growing and public services is provided at Community Hall and its adjoining lot.

Kelowna Drive-In Eatery Called "Public Nuisance"

A local taxpayer described as "public nuisance," the method of operating a drive-in restaurant on Harvey Ave., when he complained in person to city council last night.

E. R. Owen, who resides at the corner of Harvey and Ellis, said he was speaking for other residents in the area.

"The rights of others are not being protected in this case," he told the council. He charged that it is virtually impossible to get any sleep after midnight until the place closes up — and it doesn't close up "until there is nobody to serve," staying open "until as late as 5 o'clock in the morning some times."

BAD LANGUAGE

Mr. Owen also protested the "bad language" that can be heard "all the way to the park" and the "litter that is being left around the place and in the lane."

He admitted it was unfair to expect the place to be closed down. "Everyone has the right to operate a business." But he felt that the way it was being operated, without any control over noise, was "unfair to the people who have been paying taxes there for years."

TWO SUGGESTIONS

He suggested that the council either bring down an anti-noise bylaw that "would have teeth so it could be enforced," or that the drive-in be forced to close at midnight.

Mayor Parkinson told Mr. Owen that the matter of an anti-noise bylaw had been under consideration for some time and he felt that such a bylaw would become an established fact in the not too distant future.

Council agreed later to keep a close watch on the situation at the drive-in, but did not indicate in any way that any measures were planned immediately to pacify Mr. Owen.

RATEPAYERS WIN ONE CONCESSION

Residents on Rose Ave. between Pandosy and Abbott streets will feel the pinch of Kelowna's 1959 "austerity" budget.

Most of them signed a petition, presented to city council last night, asking to have the road black-topped. The street is dusty and full of pot-holes.

But black-topping is out! No money! However, the dust nuisance, at least, will be lessened. Council agreed to dust-lay the road surface.

"Suicide Mile" Accident Costs Men $24 Each

Two Vancouver men have been fined $25 and costs each on charges of driving without due care and attention, the aftermath of a motorcycle accident June 25. James Hughes, 30, and George Halls, 19, were found guilty in district police court.

The accident occurred when two cycles left the road at "Finch" corner on notorious "suicide mile."

Hughes, his wife who was riding with him, and Halls were injured. Mrs. Hughes, 28, is expected to be in hospital for "some time yet."

Magistrate Donald White said he considered this when passing sentence.

SIX UNDER INVESTIGATION

Two Potential Power Sites Promise Inexpensive Energy

B.C. Power Commission's planning engineers are investigating six sources of hydro power in the province. Two promise relatively inexpensive energy.

This is revealed in the 14th annual report of the publicly-owned utility, released Monday.

Of the Kokish River development, 86 miles north of Campbell River on Vancouver Island, the report says: "Preliminary plans and cost estimates show that cost of energy from this development would be lower than costs from any other known source."

LICENCES GRANTED

Water licences for the development of the 51,500 horsepower potential of the Kokish have been granted to the power commission by the water controller. Decision on construction will depend upon demand for power on the Island, and upon the results of studies on the Homathko River, which is also being investigated as a power source for Island industry.

Commission officials have pointed out that Island capability is adequate to immediate demands upon the system, and that another 20,000 kilowatts will be available with the termination of the contract to supply the B.C. Electric Company in Victoria.

The contract terminates in October of this year.

Investigations in the Homathko region, according to the report, are now being concentrated on possible diversion of Chilko and Taseko Lakes in an attempt to produce a power development plan compatible with the maintenance of fishery resources on the system.

NORTH OF KAMLOOPS

The second source of relatively low cost power is in the Clearwater system, north of Kamloops. Here, according to the commission's engineers, "topographic surveys and preliminary sub-surface investigations indicate that a development at Pyramid Mountain would produce energy at comparatively low cost."

A water licence application has been filed on this site. Current studies are being conducted in conjunction with studies being made by the Fraser River Board, which is considering the development of the Clearwater system primarily as a flood control measure.

Integration of planning by the two agencies is expected to result in maximum multiple-use development of this area.

Further development of the Somass River system, near Port Alberni on Vancouver Island, is proposed in a new scheme for a power project on the Stamp River. This would consist, says the report, of a short tunnel, canal and pipeline between Boot Lagoon on Great Central Lake, and a powerhouse on Stamp River below Stamp Falls.

BETTER FOR FISH

The new proposal is expected to be preferable to earlier plans for this area and will cause less interference to fish. The plan is now being reviewed by the department of fisheries.

Other sources of power being probed by the publicly-owned utility include the Nimpkish River, on northern Vancouver Island, which the report says has "serious" fish problems; and further diversions of adjacent streams and lake into the Campbell River system.

Early development of a large source seems unlikely, in view of the report of acting general manager R. C. McMordey who says that the commission "is now in an entirely sound position as to generating capability in all areas of operation, a position which it has not occupied for the past several years."

Thinning, Picking Labor Adequate

Orchard labor pool is adequate at the moment, according to the local office of the National Employment Service.

A spokesman for NES said it wasn't so much a case of having lots of people looking for thinning and picking jobs; it was a case of little demand for help. He said there were several transients passing through the Okanagan, looking for orchard work.

Glenmore Woman Dies Suddenly; Funeral Held

Funeral service was held Saturday for Mrs. Elizabeth Sinclair Irwin, 65, late of 1460 Glenview Drive, whose death occurred unexpectedly at her home Thursday.

Pastor R. M. Bourke of People's Mission officiated at the funeral rites at Day's Chapel of Remembrance. Remains were forwarded to Vancouver for interment in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Resident of the district for the past two years, the late Mrs. Irwin suffered from a serious asthmatic condition. Born in England and a Canadian resident since 1913, she married William Irwin in 1923. They went into business in Vancouver in 1929. When her husband became stricken with blindness, Mrs. Irwin took over the responsibilities. They retired to Glenmore in 1957. Besides her husband, she leaves three sisters, Miss Nancy Campbell, Vancouver; Mrs. M. Campbell, Montreal; and Mrs. P. Hall, Toronto.

Civil Defence Course Okayed

A civil defence orientation course for interested delegates attending the three-day annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities here in September will be held in Kelowna Sept. 15.

Recently, municipal councils were asked by the provincial civil defence organization to indicate if they were interested in such a course. Headquarters now has advised councils that a sufficient number of affirmative replies have been received to warrant the course.

Ald. Robert Knox will be Kelowna's "student" at the course.

Electrical Discount Will Be Over Soon

Only one more reading is required before bylaws, tantamount to increasing electrical and water rates in the city, come into effect.

As soon as official municipal affairs department approval is received, city council then will give final reading to the two bylaws that: (1) Will cancel out the 10 per cent discount allowed on electricity bills if paid by due date and (2) will impose a 10 per cent penalty on electrical and water bills that are not paid when due.

POLICE COURT

In district court, John A. Horn was fined $150 and costs for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Alex Vercouter paid $30 and costs for crossing a double solid line.

Caught by radar, Robert George Willis was fined $20 and costs for speeding in a 30-mile zone. The offence occurred in Enderby.

A fine of $25 and costs was imposed on Alexander Bigatini for speeding in a 30 mph zone.

Mayor Buys First Ticket As Local Boys Club Starts Membership Drive

Protective Markers May Be Removed If Vandals Persist

The buoys installed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to protect swimmers from errant boat-drivers and water skiers may be removed, city council was told last night.

Jaycee President Arthur Hughes-Games warned that the whole project will be abandoned if adults and juveniles persist in damaging the buoys and their anchors that stretch from the bridge to the Aquatic.

Council members decried the destruction as "vandalism" and "malicious damage."

Ald. Robert Knox reiterated that it was a "shame that the very people we are trying to protect are doing the damage."

The barrier was set up just over a week ago by the Junior chamber and to date, according to Mr. Hughes-Games, it has cost the club $180 to repair the damage.

NOT BOAT-OWNERS

He told council that some way must be worked out to prevent further damage, or the barrier will not be able to do the work for which it was intended and it will have to be removed.

Council was of the opinion that boat-owners have respected the markers.

Ald. Jack Treadgold suggested that the provisions of the Canada Shipping Act should be rigidly enforced. He said that the "onus is on the boat-owners" and if they were made aware of their responsibilities, there would be no need for the markers.

BENCHES IN LAKE

Council also was advised that some "irresponsible persons" had put park benches into the lake and that a boat had rammed into one of them, requiring fairly extensive repairs to the boat.

"It's got to be so bad that anything in the park has to be bolted or cemented down," said H. M. Trueeman, city works superintendent.

Mayor Parkinson purchased the first ticket last night as the Kelowna Boys' Club touched off its adult membership campaign.

City council all "chipped in" with amounts from $10 down to be first to support the club's drive. President Allan Burbank sold the first ticket to the mayor.

No set monetary limit is put on membership. The member may pay any amount he wishes.

Also helping Mr. Burbank "distribute" tickets to city council were Norm Mullins, in charge of public relations, and Tom Gregory, chairman in charge of the Kelowna Boys' Club adult membership campaign.

Mr. Burbank advised council that the club had obtained a lease to premises in the 300 block Lawrence Ave. where a former pool hall was situated. He thought possession would be possible by Sept. 1 and after a month of alterations and renovations, the quarters would be ready to accommodate the boys.

He told council the club directors did not "anticipate any trouble getting boys." Mr. Burbank said the directors had obtained the concessions for selling the Regatta programs for the boys and that members of Boys' Club also would be selling Regatta hats to raise revenue.

BY KELOWNA COUNCIL
City council Monday night granted trade licences to the following: Ronald George Lester, gasoline service station operator, 511 Harvey Ave.; Gordon Daddwell Hartley, drafting, 1453 Ellis St.; and William Saxon Peters, Vernon, electrical contractor.

Columbia River Power Issue Will Again Be Discussed

Every once in a while we are informed that Canada and the United States are on the eve of reaching an agreement on joint development of Columbia River waters.

Then the subject drops from sight for a few months until the tired old statement is dusted off and issued once again. This has been going on for a matter of years. It makes the seven weeks' Geneva conference of foreign ministers look like a solid record of accomplishment by comparison.

The announcement was recently made again. The two countries, we are told, are approaching the final stages of drafting an agreement. Within the next week members of the International Joint Commission will meet to rough out an agreement and a final, full-scale conference will be held Sept. 3 in Portland. The agreement emerging from this conference will then go to the Canadian and U.S. governments for ratification. It is conceivable that work on the big project could begin next year.

It is conceivable, but most unlikely judging by the long series of delays brought about by disagreements over one or two major points. A lot of hard bargaining very likely remains.

It is to be hoped that the Canadian bar-gainers hold steadfast to this country's rights. Canada has been fortunate indeed in having had a stubborn realist like Gen. G. L. McNaughton to head its section on the joint commission. A lesser man might easily have been led, long before this, into needlessly sacrificing a big part of a major water resource. The pressures to do so were great enough from the U.S. side. And there was a dangerous amount of ignorance and apathy on this side which Gen. McNaughton, fortunately, was able to overcome.

American authorities appear reluctant to concede a fifty-fifty split in power to be produced on this side in return for necessary dam and flood control works to be built on the Canadian side. It is true that U.S. expenditures will exceed Canadian expenditures, but, and this is important, Canada possesses key upstream rights; Canada will sacrifice certain land areas to make way for reservoirs, and Canada could utilize the river in other ways which might have greater long-run benefits to itself, though adversely affecting U.S. down-stream potentials.

The U.S. swings more weight at the bargaining table and Canadians in the past have tended to be timid bargainers. But the national interest demands more assertiveness.

Drug Addiction Is Growing

Most people who have never been tempted themselves are inclined to assume a detached attitude towards drug addiction as though it were something to be deplored like leprosy, but did not and never could affect their own lives.

It is the myopic view of what has become one of Canada's worst social problems, touching if not the lives certainly the pocket-books of everyone.

In a recent raid in Montreal, the RCMP seized heroin on which they placed a value of $8,000,000 to the illicit drug market. The quantity confiscated was a mere 13 pounds, about the weight of a housewife's bag of groceries. When such a small quantity of otherwise worthless powder is officially stated to be "worth" $8,000,000 to the pitiful victims of the drug habit it becomes plain that few of them can afford to pay the price legitimately.

This graphic example of the filthy gains to be made out of trafficking in human degradation and misery serves to illustrate the other side of addiction—the criminal side. Justice Minister Fulton during a discussion of the problem in Parliament some time ago, stated on the authority of survey statistics that almost all Canada's drug addicts have turned to crime for the means of satisfying their craving—a consequence easy to understand when that illicit market value of 13 pounds of heroin is placed at $8,000,000.

Last week in Vancouver a man who had been using narcotics for 23 years, was convicted for the seventh time of possession of heroin. He received a two year jail sentence, and will come out either cured of the habit, or go back to his usual way of living.

This aspect of the horrible trade, besides being one of the saddest, also brings it home to the public. Victims of the drug habit who sooner or later have to turn to theft, burglary and car prowling to satisfy their needs, fill the jails at the expense of the taxpayers, raise the rates of insurance, take up the time of the courts and add heavily to the work of the federal and local police forces, thereby multiplying the cost of law enforcement.

To a degree which few can appreciate, drug addiction is reflected in the incidence of the crime. Treating and if possible rehabilitating the victims is a problem for the humanists and sociologists, but in its larger aspects stamping out this dreadful disease is a problem for the nation as a whole; and up to now very little of real worth has been done about it.

The Victoria Merry-Go-Round

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — Social Credit's great day approaches—Saturday, Aug. 1, the seventh anniversary of the swearing-in of W. A. C. Bennett as premier and chief of B.C.'s first Social Credit government.

S.C.'ers will be swarming all over the place in Mr. Bennett's beautiful home town of Kelowna. The premier will be having a wonderful time, hearing the plaudits of his friends, enjoying the way he'll confound his political enemies, delighted that he has the centre of the stage; the spotlight full on him, for, like any good politician, he's not a modest man, though humble on suitable occasions.

Mr. Bennett's a spectacular showman, and this is a good fact in a politician. When a politician's a spectacular showman, he focuses the attention of the public upon himself, and, in this way, the public gets an opportunity to size up its leader.

This tremendous birthday party, with all its tinsel trappings, will make enemies as well as friends for the premier, but Mr.

Bennett doesn't mind that; he knows a man in public life, unless he sits on the fence, is bound to make enemies. Besides, Mr. Bennett likes to know who his enemies are, for then he can set about converting them, or he can try.

The premier has given out with a seventh birthday message, filled with partisanship and praise of Social Credit, but that's all right, too, for if the premier wasn't impressed by what his government has done, who on earth would be?

Here's part of the premier's message: "... it is a joyous occasion because it represents a tremendous step forward in our short history. To me it symbolizes British Columbia's entry into a golden era, a period of which that may well go down in history as the greatest the province has ever witnessed."

"Our Social Credit government—a movement truly representative of the people—will, I am sure, continue to guide us along the path to the goals of greatness this British Columbia of ours so rightfully deserves. The first seven years are supposedly the hardest. My friends, I must agree these years have been long and hard. But they have been worthwhile. They have been fruitful years, too, because each single year brought us closer to our goal—a British Columbia of free public debt. We have earned the right—and I mean every citizen—to celebrate this Aug. 1 as one of the most significant days in our provincial calendar."

High priced and high powered public relations experts have been hired by the premier to boom the big birthday party, to engage the bands, to stage-manage the fireworks, to whip up enthusiasm, to strew the premier's path with flowers. A booster pamphlet has been published in which the Social Credit brass falls all over itself fitting a halo to the premier's head, thusly: "It is a victory, the lighting of this giant blaze to burn the bonds that have been earned through long and dedicated days, months and years, by the Hon. W. A. C. Bennett. True, teamwork of the entire Social Credit movement made it all possible. But, without the leadership and the stature of one of the most inspirational figures of our time, this great day might never have arrived for British Columbia."

Well, it's going to be a noisy day in Kelowna, one of publication for the premier and all S.C.'ers loyal and true, and the rest of the people can size up the big party as best they may, and according to their own political opinions.

The premier's political enemies say it's a lot of nonsense and hypocrisy and all that sort of thing the premier talks when he says B.C. is now debt free.

It's all a bit confusing, as situations always are when the politicians get to arguing, and you and you, the people, should try to sort it out, to your own satisfaction, anyway.

BERLIN TOUGH TALK

LABOR-MANAGEMENT SERIES

Round-Table Discussions Secret Settling Disputes

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
This is the third of a series of five articles dealing with labor-management and industrial relations in the United Kingdom.

LONDON — While the United Kingdom has, over a period of 135 years, developed a comprehensive system of industrial legislation, even more important in keeping down the incidence of strikes are the procedures which have been built up around this legislation. These procedures are far-reaching, and can be credited with the low figures of British loss of man-days of labor through strikes.

Their purpose was well expressed by a Socialist member of parliament in the House of Commons the other day when he said, "Let us get them out of the ring and around the table." That is the key to the success they have achieved — getting men around the table to talk things over.

INDUSTRIAL COUNCILS

Perhaps the most powerful of all the segments of machinery set up to deal with labor disputes is the Joint Industrial Council, which has its origins during the first world war, when, because of a wave of labor unrest which was affecting wartime production, a House of Commons committee, under the chairmanship of J. M. Whitley, speaker of the House, was set up to make recommendations for improving relations between employers and employees, and providing a means of systematic review of conditions from time to time.

This committee proved to be historic. It recommended the formation in well-organized industries of Joint Industrial Councils, the appointment of works committees in individual establishments, statutory regulations of wages in badly-organized trades and a permanent court of arbitration. It also recommended the continuance of "the present system whereby industries make their own agreements and settle their differences themselves." These recommendations were accepted by the government, and a model Joint Industrial Council constitution was drawn up. These councils meet at regular intervals, and not only when disputes arise. They give consideration to a wide range of industrial subjects, such as better utilization of the knowledge and experience of workmen, general conditions of employment, the greatest possible security of earnings and employment, methods of fixing and adjusting earnings, piecework prices, technical education and training, industrial research, improvement of processes and proposed legislation affecting the industry.

Between January, 1918, and December, 1921, 73 Joint Industrial Councils were formed in various industries. The latest figures show over 130 such councils now in existence and functioning successfully. They have served a tremendously useful purpose by discussing, in advance, matters which, if not handled in this way, might have led to serious industrial disputes.

AT SEVERAL LEVELS

While the Joint Industrial Councils are organized at the level of the national organizations in each industry, there are parallel organizations at lower levels, such as regional councils, district councils, local branch councils and works committees. The value of these is seen when a dispute arises. This is considered first by the works committee, and if no agreement is possible, it is sent up through the various links in the chain, with each successive council seeking to find a settlement. There can be no strike until the subject has gone to the national level, and then, the consent of both parties, to the Industrial Court, with which disputes have been settled amicably at one or another of the stages of this process of negotiation.

In addition, there is a National Joint Advisory Council, made up of members of the British Employers' Confederation and the Trades Union Congress for considering, in an advisory capacity, all matters in which employers and employees have a common interest. It meets regularly.

INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL

The means of final arbitration of a dispute have been twofold. In 1940, as a war measure, Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor, set up an industrial disputes tribunal which was continued into the post war period, and was abolished only in February of this year. Any one of the parties to a dispute could refer it to this tribunal, and its decisions were binding. Employers claimed that the tribunal referred to it came from the unions. In one famous case, however, the employers took a dispute over pay of provincial bus employees to the tribunal, and the tribunal granted 11 shillings a week increase in wages to the employees. This was a very useful device, but they objected strongly to its abolition.

INDUSTRIAL COURT

The Industrial Court, as a court of last resort in industrial disputes, was established by an act passed in 1919, after the close of the first world war. Disputes can only be referred to this court of arbitration when both parties to a dispute agree to this method of effecting a settlement. Its awards cannot be enforced by law, but experience has shown that, having agreed to send the dispute to the court for an award, the two parties have in almost every case accepted the decision. One recent case which illustrates this was that in which the Building Trades Union were asking for a wage increase of four per cent per hour. Both sides asked to have it referred to the Industrial Court. The decision was against the unions—to the effect that no wage increase was justified. This was accepted by the unions as final, and there was no strike, or even the threat of a strike.

CONCILIATION ACT

Another important step which should be mentioned is the passing of the Conciliation Act in 1896. Under this act, the Board of Trade was charged with fostering voluntary conciliation agreements, and was granted powers in connection with trade disputes: (1) To inquire into the causes and circumstances of a dispute; (2) To take steps towards bringing the parties together; (3) To appoint a conciliator or board of conciliation on the application of the employers or the workers, and, (4) To appoint an arbitrator on the application of both parties. This fourth function has very largely been superseded by the subsequent passing, in 1919, of the Industrial Courts Act.

These powers were subsequently transferred to the Ministry of Labor and National Service when it was created and the act is still operative. I will have something further to report on these conciliation services in another article.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

THE MAGIC OF LANGUAGE

History may declare eventually that Winston Churchill was not wise in his administration of affairs during the last war. Already various generals have been torn to pieces by those who were wise after the event. Field Marshal Montgomery has topped from his pillar. He is shown as a garrulous old man who goes to the English Post Office to collect some small amount due to him as to other aged men. Books are written about the men who had terrible decisions to make. It has taken a Queen to say that although we honor the President of the United States, it is as General Eisenhower that we remember him with respect and affection. Yet the critics say he was not a very great general.

Now it may be that Winston Churchill made mistakes. It may be that he interfered with the generals and drove them half crazy; but one thing I know: there is not another man in our time who has known, as has Winston Churchill, the magic of language. I am told that split infinitives are quite all right. I am told that slang is O.K. I am told that to be pedantic about one's speech is pedantic. Yet it is patently true that, whatever mistakes Sir Winston may have made, there is a glory which can never be taken away from him and that is the glory of being the greatest orator, the greatest artist in the field of the English language, which the world has seen in living memory. You may call him a spell-binder if you like, but I say that it was he who gave us heart and encouragement in the blackest days of the war. It was not simply because he was of the bulldog type, the epitome of everything that is truly English. It is that he expressed in words, carefully chosen no doubt, what every true Englishman felt in those grim days. "We shall never surrender!"

Before the Scotsmen and the Northern Irish and the loyal Southern Irish descend upon me, let me add them to the Englishmen I have mentioned!

Of course, he is not the only one who speaks well. I use him as an example of a prime minister of Great Britain who will be remembered, not so much for the wisdom of his decisions, but for his ability to speak in the perfection of his language to his own people and to those beyond the seas. They recognized his gift and were inspired by it. I remember listening to the voices of two men, at different times, each of whom sought to become president of the United States. Their voices were so awful, their command of English so bad, that I remarked, as a Canadian, "We cannot have these fellows as President of the United States!" It was jokingly said but I am prepared to stand by this dictum: we must have, as our president, men who speak good English and who would sooner slit their own throats than be guilty of saying "Noo Westminister." All time who has known, as has Winston Churchill, the magic of language. I am told that split infinitives are quite all right. I am told that slang is O.K. I am told that to be pedantic about one's speech is pedantic. Yet it is patently true that, whatever mistakes Sir Winston may have made, there is a glory which can never be taken away from him and that is the glory of being the greatest orator, the greatest artist in the field of the English language, which the world has seen in living memory. You may call him a spell-binder if you like, but I say that it was he who gave us heart and encouragement in the blackest days of the war. It was not simply because he was of the bulldog type, the epitome of everything that is truly English. It is that he expressed in words, carefully chosen no doubt, what every true Englishman felt in those grim days. "We shall never surrender!"

The music of Mr. Churchill's phrases and the delightful cadences of his speech will remain, I should think, as part of the really good things which resulted from the war. There are other voices and if they impress me it is because those who use them in their speech have taken the trouble to employ those voices properly and their words have been chosen with care. It is a compliment to their audience that they have thought that just anything was not good enough. Great speech is like magnificent music. To continue the thought there, I would add that it seems such a pity that so many people are content with literary 'jazz' or 'rock 'n' roll'.

Brothels, Gambling Algerian Night Life

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIER (AP)—The capital of Algeria lives the feverish life of a war-boom city.

Daytime, bumper-to-bumper automobile traffic jams the narrow streets, never planned as modern thoroughfares.

Over the busy harbor, crowded with freighters and passenger ships, French army helicopters transport the wounded from the field.

On the wharf, noisy merchants peddle their goods and giant trucks push their way through traffic.

In the evening, a scattering of celebrating soldiers and glee from the Sahara fields roam virtually deserted streets.

Behind the heavy curtains of the city gambling casino, roulette stakes grow higher every night.

Brothels in dingy, filthy-strewn alleys rake in the cash.

In dance halls, blackjack-carrying waiters ignore those who don't order champagne or whisky. Hundreds of French settlers leave Algiers every month, weary of the endless war and clouded future. Yet new ones arrive from France, Tunisia, Morocco and pay ever higher prices for apartments, servants, food.

The population of greater Algiers has passed the 800,000 mark. In 1939, it barely reached 300,000.

On the outskirts of the city, thousands of weary Moslems huddle in shantytowns where hunger and disease are rampant. They fled the war-battered countryside for the comparative calm of Algiers.

Thousands of other Moslems are moving into giant modern apartment projects built for them by the French.

Beyond the hills of Hydra and Birmahendris, oil companies prospecting in the Sahara are building skyscrapers to house their offices. Lines of oilmen wait in apartment agency offices. Ordinary clerks are waved out. Hotels are booked tight. Even diplomats are thrown out after a week's stay. Sun-bronzed Europeans turn their heads away from the white-walled Barberousse prison in front of which a cluster of Moslem women wait daily to be admitted with food packages. At night, curfew shrouds the city.

NEW SCARF PATTERNS

By TRACY ADRIAN
Ancient Oriental art inspired this colorful scarf motif. The floral designs are meticulously etched with fine black lines to bring prominence to the flowers and leaves in the Far Eastern tradition.

This frankly feminine style is pictured worn in a blouse-tie fashion. To achieve this effect, open the scarf on the square and tie the two corners about the waist and two corners at the back of the neck.

Westbank Visitors Journeyed Up From Land Of Midnight Sun

WESTBANK — From a maximum of 80 degrees at Circle City, within the arctic circle—to the more than 90-degree heat of the Okanagan and Kamloops areas, was an enervating experience last week for Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Crook, their son, Paul and daughter Gloria.

Motoring through Canadian, as well as United States territory, they remarked on the kindly welcome received everywhere, as for instance, Dawson City, where they were generously refreshed with coffee when they stopped for car service.

They discovered that to this day, some of the villages in that far-north country remain typically Russian; changeless, to all intent, from the time when the territory belonged to Russia.

As was to be expected, food prices were exorbitant, with eggs a dollar a dozen, and the travellers felt that anyone planning a trip "down north" would be well advised to carry staple foods with them.

Leaving Westbank Friday, after stopovers here and at Kamloops, the motorists continued their homeward way.

WESTBANK

WESTBANK — Recent visitors in the district include Miss Doris MacKay, who, with a companion, are guests of the former's sister, Miss Ethel MacKay, Miss MacKay and her fellow-worker are from Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Potter during the past week or more included the former's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Potter, motoring from Neepawa, Man., they have since left to return home.

Also here were Mr. Potter's uncle and aunt from Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. D. McKenzie, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bell, also from the coast city.

Mrs. A. Madryga and family are staying with Mrs. Madryga's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Earmley, while Mr. Madryga attends summer school.

Here during last week from Prince Rupert were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Young, to visit the former's father and brother, J. W. and L. T. Hannam, and a sister, Mrs. W. B. Gore. A son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Young, also of Prince Rupert, plan to visit relatives in Westbank en route home from prairie points.

A coast visitor in Westbank is Mrs. Vollans, the guest of her sister, Miss E. Sumpter.

Motoring to prairie points for a holiday are Mr. and Mrs. John Selteneich.

Mrs. Olive Mitchell and son Ken accompanied the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Watts, to their home near Golden, and will spend a month's holiday in that area. Mr. and Mrs. Watts, former Westbank residents, were guests of their mother, Mrs. D. Hardwicke, during their stay here.

FRUITFUL FACTS

By BETH CAMERON

It's apricot time in British Columbia's fruit-growing areas. Under the best of growing conditions, the apricots have matured to an excellent crop and you'll find them in abundance at your fruit market right now.

This year, apricots are being shipped from the orchards in wooden Vu-Pak containers with a transparent film lid, enabling you to see exactly what you are buying. In the box you'll find an attractive pamphlet with detailed instructions for canning apricots, recipes for apricot jam and conserve, and delicious fresh apricot desserts.

Just to show you how easy it is, here is some further encouragement in brief. A 14-pound case of apricots will give you 8 to 9 quarts of canned fruit. Medium syrup is best and 7 cups of sugar boiled with 10 cups water should make enough syrup for the case.

CANNED APRICOTS

Use firm, ripe apricots. Wash, cut in half and pit. Pack into clean jars, cut side down, leaving ¼-inch headspace. Pour over hot syrup to within ½ inch of top, making sure apricots are covered. Seal jars and process 20 minutes for pints; 25 minutes for quarts.

Rich and golden as summer sunshine, apricots make the best of all fruit jams. For plain, old-fashioned apricot jam, try this interesting recipe. The kernels may be omitted, but they do help the jam keep that wonderful fresh apricot flavor as it stands. Just blanch the kernels as you would an almond. These kernels, which look like an almond, are easily removed from the pit with a nutcracker or pliers.

APRICOT JAM

4 lbs. ripe apricots
Sugar to measure
8 blanched kernels from apricot pits

Cut apricots in coarse pieces, measure. Heat fruit to boiling in large heavy kettle, cook until tender, stirring occasionally. (Do not add any water; juice quickly forms as the apricots heat.) Add ¾ cup sugar for each cup of fruit used, then add the apricot kernels. Heat to boiling, cook 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Add lemon juice and cook 10 to 15 minutes longer. Seal in sterilized jars. Makes about 2½ pints.

APRICOTS COMBINE WITH FRESH ORANGE IN THIS FLAVORFUL JAM

Make a batch of this in addition to the plain apricot jam. Variety will add interest to your mid-winter breakfasts.

APRICOT-ORANGE JAM

8 cups apricot halves
6 cups granulated sugar
Dash salt
2 tablespoons grated orange rind

Mix all ingredients in large heavy kettle. Stir to start sugar dissolving, then cook rapidly until consistency is right for jam, about 40 minutes. Seal in sterilized jars. Makes about 2½ pints.

While the season is in full swing, let the youngsters eat all the fresh apricots they want. Remember, they are chock-full of vitamins and minerals—nature's way of adding good health to summer meals. If the apricots are not ripe enough for eating when you get the case home, let them stand at room temperature until just right for eating. Once ripened, keep apricots in the refrigerator.

When you make your first jam, use some of it for old-fashioned jelly roll. Apricot sundae is another summer treat no one should miss.

APRICOT SUNDAE SAUCE

2 cups coarsely cut apricots
½ cup undrained crushed pineapple
1½ cups sugar
4 or 5 apricot kernels, blanched and chopped.

Combine apricots, pineapple, sugar and a dash of salt in saucepan. Cook gently about 20 minutes. Add apricot kernels, remove from heat and chill. Serve over vanilla ice cream. If it's a really special party, place a scoop of vanilla ice cream in meringue shells, drizzle with apricot sauce.

For your further summer meal-time enjoyment, you'll find new crop B.C. cooking apples back in the stores again... ideal for green apple pies and that tangy applesauce that everyone likes so well.

Oriental Offerings Find Favor On New York's Big White Way

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway's oriental fad is spreading. The White Way found box-office bonanza this season in shows spiced with Far East lure. Now a renowned Japanese troupe is setting out on cross-country tour with the genuine, exotic article.

"This is nothing like our usual notion of Eastern entertainment, however," asserts producer Albert B. Gins. "There's nothing ritualistic."

"This is real live entertainment in Western style."

ALL WOMEN

Even more distinctive is the company's composition—all performers are women, ranging in age from 16 to 54.

"They're not geishas, and they don't run around," Gins says. "If they marry, they have to leave the troupe."

Named Takarazuka (pronounced tah-kah-rah-zoo-kah, without accent) after the town that has been its headquarters since 1914, the company is making its North American debut in August.

The 22 performers (selected from among 400) are accompanied by 15 tons of scenery and 750 costumes.

Society Presents Two New Artists

The exhibition in the board room of the Okanagan Regional Library this week is of special interest.

It is the premiere exhibition of two artists, whose work promises to go a long way.

There are some 20 pictures by Robert Yard of Kelowna. This young man, aged only 16 years, moved to Kelowna from Victoria about two years ago. There he studied from the age of 12 with the well-known teacher William Menelaws, of that city.

His work is landscapes. The drawing is good, and he has introduced that rare gift of atmosphere into his work. The shadows are perhaps not as deep as they might be, but in spite of this, he gives us the feeling of light and sunshine. He has his career before him.

Of the other artist Neil Windling, I can say little, as I have been unable to make any contact. He comes from Denmark, and has had some architectural training.

He is at present engaged in cabinet making here.

The pictures need no remarks from me. They speak for themselves. One would enjoy having them in any home.

This gentleman should give up more time to painting. He has, artistically, arrived.

The Kelowna Art Exhibit Society is proud to introduce these two artists.

RUTLAND — Rev. and Mrs. J. A. B. Adams are holidaying at Hope. Mr. Aubrey Brooks, of Kelowna, supplied the pulpit on Sunday, in the minister's absence. Congregations of the Rutland and Benvenuto churches joined for the service. Regular services will resume in August.

Miss Kay Fitzpatrick, nurse in training at the Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster, is home for a month's holiday, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Fitzpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dohan of Forest Hills, North Vancouver, and their three children have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Dohan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gray. Mr. Dohan left Saturday for Swift Current, Sask., to visit his mother, who will return to B.C. with him to reside.

Mrs. Martin Yeast, and son Larry, returned recently from a visit with relatives in Richmond, Sask., and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Skinner of Vancouver have been visiting Mr. Skinner's sister, Mrs. George Reith.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Cross during the past week have been cousins of Mrs. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graham and son Lyall and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Graham, all of Vulcan, Alta. Another visitor was Mr. R. Nicol, a former resident of Rutland, who now lives at loco, B.C.

Bailey and Kaser Miss Kick at Cat

The B.C. Lions will be shy two halves of their hard-hitting make for a better challenge to the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in exhibition tonight.

By Bailey and Rick Kaser. "Lord Byron" Bailey, charter member of the Lions, will leave a large-sized gap at the fullback position which he plays with authority and snap, but both Bailey and Kaser, a tough, sophomore defensive back, suffered minor injuries in their exhibition fight against Regina Rough Riders, and will have to sit this one out.

Fullback Bill Britton and end Morgan Clark will fill in for the injured duo. Britton, a Western Ontario product, is in his sophomore year with the Lions, and Morgan is a product of the same vineyard, but in his freshman year with Vancouver.

OTHERS INJURED
Also on the injured list for the evening, which includes Hamilton Tiger-Cats, are backfield players Chuck Alkanovich, halfback Chuck Alkanovich, end Bruce Claridge, all Oglethorpe and former National League All-Stars.

Chuck Frank, Primo Villanova and George Young will not make the trip, either, but Tatarski means little or nothing to the Tiger-Cats' Jim Trimble. Hamilton Tiger-Cats know next to nothing about this year's edition of British Columbia Lions. That's all right by Tatar coach Lampan and Paul Dekker.

Biggest Canadian Henley Rows Off This Wednesday

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP)—Some 24 clubs in Canada and the United States will make this year's Royal Canadian Henley regatta the biggest in its 77-year history.

No less than 600 oarsmen and scullers are entered for the international rowing event which opens Wednesday on the sheltered waters of the old Welland Canal.

Buffalo West Sides, perennial threats for the Maple Leaf Trophy, have entries in 26 events. The New York Athletic Club, the contest's most sculling race, is the four-day regatta gets underway early Wednesday with six heats for the three sculling finals scheduled as part of the 18-race twilight program later in the day.

Silver Star Hill Gets Poma-Lift

VERNON—Silver Star Mountain is to have one of the largest Poma-lifts on the continent. The $35,000 ski-lift, sold directly to the Silver Star Sports Company by Gene Pomagalski of France, originator of the lift, is rated as the easiest type for all skiers, will be in operation this winter.

The second Poma-lift in western Canada, Vernon's lift will be twice the size of the one on Mount Seymour, the only other one in B.C.

Rated as the most popular lift in Europe, the Tee-bar lift will be capable of carrying 1,000 skiers per hour, and its 2,500 feet of lift will carry skiers up the vertical distance of 750 feet to the upper terminal at 6,280 above sea level.

Braves Mound Staffers Showing Old Time Pepper

St. Louis	47	51	.480	8
Cincinnati	44	54	.449	11
Philadelphia	40	58	.417	14

The Milwaukee Braves, who only a few days ago looked as if they had had it, now have it again—and the "it" is pitching. Pitching in depth, the strong point of the Braves' two consecutive pennants and the talking point in their bid for a third, suddenly is on the mound and not just on paper.

With Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Juan Pizarro, Bob Buhl and Joey Jay back in form, the Braves have reclaimed second place, closing within 1 1/2 games of idle San Francisco in the National League race as the Braves swept over Pittsburgh Monday 5-2.

That five-man staff gave up only three runs in the five games, blanking the Bucs through the first 30 2-3 innings and not allowing an earned run for 38 frames until Pittsburgh finally got one home in the third inning Monday.

ONLY ONE OTHER
Cincinnati rallied St. Louis 8-3 in the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Despite a five-hitter by Jay 4-7, who hadn't won in a month, the Braves didn't bag it until the seventh. Blanked on three hits until then by Ron Kline (7-10), they broke loose for all five runs, scoring on Del Crandall's tying, three-run single and Bobby Avila's line-drive, two-run triple.

With Jay gaining only his third complete game in more than a year, the Braves now have won six of seven since dropping seven straight and adding to fourth place. They trailed by 4 1/2 just five days ago.

Now they're even with the Giants in the "lost" column and have a two-percentage point edge over the Dodgers. The Reds scored twice in the first inning, then nailed Vinegar Bend Mizell (11-6) with Johnny Temple's fifth homer, a three-run shot in the fourth. Bob Purkey (9-10) went all the way, giving up five of the Cards' nine hits when they scored all three runs in the fifth.

Leafs Gun-Shy, But Not Chicken

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leaf players, nervous after hearing a report of shooting in a Havana ball park, are not looking forward to their next baseball tour to Cuba. But there was no indication Monday night of a concerted attempt to stay away.

"I know there are some discussions about the shooting, but I never heard about a petition," manager Dixie Walker said as the Leafs returned from a series at Richmond, Va.

"I know some of the boys said they were hesitant about going. I'll make no bones about it—the boys are quite disturbed." A Rochester and a Havana player were wounded by stray bullets as shooting erupted in an International League game at Havana Saturday. Steve Souchock, Richmond club manager, was quoted Monday as saying the Leafs had unanimously signed a petition refusing to play in Havana, where their final trip is scheduled in mid-August.

Tonight's Aquacade will be a must for kids of all ages. The stellar attraction on the bill is Frank James, one of the "fastest guns in the world."

In Kelowna as a member of the "Ghost Town" troupe, James is reputed to be able to unholster a .45 and whip off six shots in 17 of a second. Shades of Bat Masterson!

Cook Says Time Is Ripe For Jump To Major Ball

NEW YORK (CP)—Toronto sportsman Jack Kent Cooke says he is convinced the time is at hand for his and other North American clubs to make the jump into major league baseball.

He said Monday night he is prepared to invest at least $2,500,000 to back up his claim that Toronto can support an entry in the third league, to be known as the Continental League.

"That is twice the amount I offered to buy the Detroit Tigers," he said. "It is my money. It is not the city's."

He said he is convinced the new league will make a go of it. He added that the league which he expects to open for business in 1961 with a 1954-game schedule, hopes to participate in the world series with the American and National Leagues by 1963 or 1965.

"We should be able to give a good account of ourselves by then," he added.

Cooke, owner of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, said he expects the City of Toronto will provide a stadium, seating 37,000 to 40,000 to accommodate the major league entry.

Labs Drop Charge For Kids To Park

Kids are going to be able to watch baseball free in Elks Stadium.

"We have been criticized for charging for kids," said the Labatts manager-coach Hank Tostenson today in commenting on the plan to remove admission charge from kids 12 and under, "but we had no other idea in mind than to exercise some control over youngsters by so doing."

The charge for kids came about as the result of complaints by ball fans, who said that the kids running about the stands distracted their attention from the game.

The Labs executive agreed to set up a special section for kids, and require them to stay there. Kids with parents may sit with them, however.

The Labs face a crucial series this week with their arch-rivals, the Penticon Red Sox, hosting them on Thursday night in Elks Stadium, with a return match Friday in Penticon.

"These two matches will be tough ones," coach Tostenson said. "If we can take them, we may be on our way to the playoffs."

A lot will be riding on the big bats of Bob Campbell and Gerry Goyer in these games. Campbell, one of the valley's top ball players, just joined the club lately after a lay-off, and is starting to get his eye back in. He could swing a lot of weight in these games if he's clobbering them in top style, and he brings a lot of hustle to his outfield spot.

Goyer is starting to find his hitting eye lately, and will be a power to reckon with if he hits hard in this series. Fellows like Frank Fritz, Cec Pavell and Ilromi Ito have been hitting well in the past few outings.

Young Leo Petty is showing some brilliant work at short, and has hit some long balls. With a little easier swing, he could be a power to reckon with also.

Hank isn't too concerned where it comes from, however, as long as it comes in the next while. The win column in league play to date is fairly skookum, but it is the loss column that has to be kept at a stand-still for the remaining nine games.

The forthcoming games, following the two against Penticon, are one against Oliver, two against Kamloops, two against Summerland, and two against Vernon.

But this Thursday night will be a big one.

Seesaw Mounties Slip To Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The knots slipped just a little Monday night as the only four teams playing split doubleheaders.

Vancouver lost the first game and won the second by identical scores of 2-1 at Salt Lake City. This dropped the Mounties from a first-place tie with Sacramento into second place by one percentage point.

The split also knocked the Bees out of a third-place tie with Portland into fourth—also by one percentage point.

Phoenix scored five runs in both games against Spokane. They were enough to win the first one, 5-4, and lose the second, 7-5. One was a makeup for a contest rained out Sunday night.

Vancouver's Chuck Estrada was loser and winner in the pitching duels at Salt Lake City. Bee hurlers Ed Bauta and Jim Post held the Mounties to four hits in a first game. Three Salt Lake pitchers gave up seven hits in the 10-inning nightcap.

Two abortive double play attempts put tying runs across in the finale.

Carlos Bernier scored the Bees' only run when the Mounties missed a double play attempt on

Unhappy Deportee Frowns At Orchard City's Media

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

Have on hand a letter from a self-styled football fan, who seems to be an unhappy deportee from Vancouver:

"Dear sir: The letter begins respectfully.

"Full in your horns, boy!" (We have been reduced in rank.)

"You are monkeying with a man who knows less about football and says more than anyone, when you dare to criticize Dick Beddoes." (The criticism was not against Beddoes, but against his opinion, or lack of it.)

"But unfortunately Dick is quite right this time. Unfortunately because the many real football fans in the Okanagan (yes, Okanagan) are forced to cry in their beer when they consider the utter lack of coverage of the WIFU just as soon as the Lions' training camp leaves town." (Tut, tut, sir, mind your veracity!)

"As an ardent follower of Football for over 15 years let me tell you that my company really does me dirt when they transferred me from Vancouver to Kelowna—don't get me wrong, there isn't a nicer place to live—that is if you don't like Football—but if you do—ah boy!" (We thank you, and the board of trade thanks you.)

"You won't be able to listen to a game on radio, you will have to take the Sun or Province (ouch!) to read about it and when the Grey Cup is on the radio you can watch the last play-off game on TV at the same time." (A couple of more tuts.)

"Now if the Press, Radio or TV can show me that they are doing their part to support and publicize the B.C. Lions I'll agree that Kelowna is entitled to a spring training camp here. Until then I'll have to go along with Dick Beddoes in possibly the only column he ever wrote that made sense on Football."

Yours for football in the Okanagan.

BRUCE PALMER."

WEE-E-LL, NOW! THERE'S A FELLOW WHO KNOWS just what he wants, even if he doesn't know what he is getting. You see, Bruce, we can only give you the press side of the picture, but we venture to say that the publishing of the game reports a full 19 hours ahead of the time any other paper can conceivably have them to you is pretty fair service. This is what the Daily Courier has given you, ever since they went daily.

As far as the color coverage or picture reports of the games are concerned, you don't get them here, but ask any Okanagan visitor to the coast what he gets on valley sport when he is away from his local paper. The answer will be Zero, a big goose egg.

And this, dear football fan once-removed from Vancouver, is the case any time a fellow leaves his home town. Why, in some cities, you can buy up to 2,000 out-of-town newspapers at a single stand, for guys who have been transferred away from the old home town.

But the B.C. Lions enjoy full play in Kelowna, as full as space and facilities permit. When you knock the latter, my friend, you knock your present home.

BUT WHAT POSSIBLE CONNECTION THERE COULD BE between the coverage given to the team, and the entitlement of the city to have the training camp here, seems to elude us.

If the site of the football team were to depend on the availability of the press and their coverage, the Lions would have to move so far away from Vancouver it would cost them 20 cents to send a postcard to Anis Sukus. The same might apply to other pro clubs, in other cities, also, and in other sports.

And if you think you suffered a wrench, Bruce old man, think about much agony there must be around the embassies when they can't read the news of cricket in Afghanistan, soccer in Peru, football in Peiping, tiddlywinks in Bournemouth, because those loutish Ottawa papers are jammed full of Canadian football news.

Such is the cross the traveller must bear.

ASIDE FROM THE FACT THAT THE LIONS GET MORE COVERAGE HERE than Okanagan sports do at the coast, by a country mile, there is another small point that has eluded you, old sport.

Check back over the reasons why the Lions train here, and you will find that they do it because they find the location and facilities are suitable for their needs.

Secondly, consider the fact that the B.C. Lions are a provincial team, not a city team, and the fact that there is nowhere in the province where they could train that gives the poor underprivileged who dwell in the interior a chance to view them in training like Kelowna.

Thirdly, the city and its citizens have extended themselves in the past, and will continue to do so, to welcome the football club that they think is pretty special, even if they can only show their emotions in their own parochial way.

Maybe after you shuffle off this big-town pique and take a good look at the lakes, the mountains, the Okanagan skies, you'll join us in our rustic enthusiasm.

And be a Lions rooster, Orchard City style.

Cleveland's Last Lap Could Depend On Score

By Associated Press

American League	W	L	Pct.	GBL
Chicago	56	40	.582	—
Cleveland	56	40	.582	—
Baltimore	50	49	.505	7 1/2
New York	49	49	.495	8 1/2
Kansas City	47	49	.490	9
Detroit	48	52	.480	10
Washington	43	53	.439	14
Boston	41	55	.427	15

Herb Score still is the "if" man for Cleveland, but now the young lefthander could be the difference between the pennant and a near-miss by the Indians, not just a first or second division finish.

In each of the last two springs, the lightly regarded Indians had been figured to be only as good as Score. Last season it was "If Score can come back from that tragic eye injury." This spring it was "If Score can shake that arm trouble."

Now, with the Indians shooting for all the marbles, he's been the tough - luck disappointment of their surprising staff.

SHUT OUT BY SOX

Score (9-9) lost his fourth in a row Monday night, a loser to a shutout for the second time in a three-week span. This one was a three-hitter by Jerry Casale that ended Boston's slump at six games with a 4-0 victory, clipped the Indians' winning streak at five and dropped them into a tie for the American League lead with Chicago's idle White Sox.

In the only other American League games scheduled, Kansas City matched the longest winning streak in the majors this season, making it eight in a row with a 7-6 decision over Washington that hoisted the Athletics' past Detroit into fifth place. Baltimore dropped the Tigers 5-2, with Gene Woodling driving in all the Oriole runs.

The Indians managed nothing but singles off Casale. The right-handed rookie walked five and struck out three for a 7-6 record.

The last-place Red Sox put it away with a run in the second on Dick Gernert's single, two walks and Frank Malzone added solo homers, Jensen hitting his 12nd, off Score, and Malzone his 12th off Al Cicotte.

Two runs in the eighth on singles by pinchhitter Frank House and Joe Demaestri won it for the Athletics. The Senators, losing their ninth in a row, set a Washington record with 123 home runs for a season on Harmon Killebrew's 33rd and a grand slam by Faye Throneberry, which was matched by the Athletics' Roger Maris, Harry Chitt, also homered for Kansas City. Murry Dickson (1-0) won it, with Hal Woodeshick (0-3) the loser.

It was Washington's 98th game, putting Killebrew three games behind Babe Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927. The Babe hit his 33rd in game No. 95.

Woodling, driving in the Orioles' last nine runs, cracked a grand slam, his 13th homer, off loser Jim Bunning (9-9) in the third inning, then added an RBI single in the seventh. Hec Brown (7-6) won it with Billy Loes' three innings of hitless relief.

Quebec Lead In Jun Golf Is Slim One

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec held a slender one-stroke margin over Ontario, British Columbia and Saskatchewan today after nine holes of the 36-hole junior interprovincial team golf championship.

The Quebec team posted an aggregate medal score of 155 for the first nine of the long grind under a scorching sun at the Kanawaki course, where par is 35-35-70.

The three closest provinces were bracketed at 156 and four strokes away at 160 was the Nova Scotia team. Manitoba had 170, Alberta 172, and the New Brunswick - Prince Edward Island combination four-man team 173.

PAR FOR B.C. PLAYER

John Morgan of Vancouver shot a par 35 for the B.C. team. Alan Kennedy of Vancouver has 38, Bill Wakeham of Victoria 40 and Terry Campbell of Vancouver 43. Saskatchewan might have grabbed the early lead but for a couple of disastrous holes to Ed Ross Jr. and Merv Folk, both of Saskatoon.

Ross broke two balls out of bounds at the 43rd yard par-four eighth and took a nine. Folk was also out of bounds at the same hole and took an eight.

Ken Dopson, Winnipeg, was Manitoba's low man with 38, Bob Esdale of Edmonton was low for Alberta with 38 and Brian Lewis of Moncton low for N.B.-P.E.I. with 41.

The team players weren't having things all their own way in trying to make Wednesday's start of match round play for the Canadian junior title. Among team members and others alike, the low 32 scorers in today's 36 holes of medal play qualify for the junior championship hunt.

Chisox Bandit Is Hot Thief—Of Cold Bases

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio, the little bandit from Maracibo, Venezuela, has Chicago White Sox rivals cursing with admiration.

The 25-year-old shortstop, the solid centre of Chicago's well knit defense, is keeping the Sox in contention for the American League pennant not only with his fielding but also his superb base-running.

Luis has been the American League's top base stealer since breaking into the majors in 1956. As a rookie he had 21 stolen bases. Two years ago he led the league with 28, last year he was tops with 29 and this year he already has 31.

The minute Luis gets on base, White Sox fans begin their hammering chant of "go, go, go." Luis not only goes but he usually gets there. He has been caught stealing only eight times and three of these involved the tough attempts at third base or home plate.

In the field, Luis has no peer in either league. There are those who claim he is greatest shortstop of all time.

Aparicio, personable, quiet and rather shy, showed his teammates he can be pretty fast off the field too. Back in 1956 he had a date with one Sonia Llorente, a cousin to teammate Jim Rivera.

Luis proposed on his first date and the couple now has two children—a boy and a girl. "When he comes home after a game in which he has made an error," said Sonia, "I don't say a word until he starts talking. And sometimes I don't say a word all night."

Pan Am Swimmer Taught In Kelowna

A Vancouver boy who made the Pan Am swim team learned his stuff in Kelowna.

Bill Campbell, 16-year-old grandson of Coley Campbell of Kelowna, was named to represent Canada in Chicago this August as a member of the swim team.

He learned his swimming at the Aquatic pool from Jane Stirling (Wood) and Audrey James, instructors at the pool.

GOLF TIPS

By ALEX MORRISON

Beginner Carolyn Schwartz means as a camera would record them.

In golf consistent success can't mirror or window, tightly shut both eyes and keep them closed during a whole swing. At the finish of a swing hold everything still until you have made a check of your positions and movements as clearly as the lens of a camera. The main requirement for this simply is complete honesty with yourself as shown in the Morrison Method of checking the position of your hand and chin while swinging in front of a mirror or differ.

Third Major Ball League Is One Big Question Mark

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The five founding cities of the third major baseball league—the Continental League—plan to operate in 1961 with at least eight clubs.

Where will they get the players? Will they work with the other majors? Or outside the present structure?

These questions will be battled around when the founders meet Aug. 18, probably in Boston, with Commissioner Ford Frick's seven-man committee from the existing majors.

New York is one of the five founders. The names and backers of the others were announced Monday at a press conference by Bill Shea, chairman of Mayor Wagner's baseball committee.

OTHERS INTERESTED

Toronto, Houston, Denver and Minneapolis-St. Paul round out the group of founders. Shea listed 11 cities that have evinced interest in joining. They are Buffalo, Montreal, Atlanta, New Orleans, Miami, Indianapolis, Dallas-Fort Worth, Seattle, Portland, Ore., San Diego and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Shea said he hopes to have two or three more cities lined up with the founders before his group meets with Frick's committee. He declined to reveal details of his plans for securing players from existing major league teams and their minor league farms. That subject will be one of the most important matters to be worked out.

full co-operation from the American and National Leagues, who voted in May to favorably consider applications for major league status by "an acceptable group of eight clubs which could qualify."

Shea said the league will have a minimum of eight clubs, perhaps 10 and more than 12 when fully organized. It will play a 156 game schedule.

Such matters as the league presidency, additional cities, television, bonus payments and major-minor relations also are still to be determined.

Each owner has put up $50,000 and is prepared to dig down for $2,500,000, exclusive of park facilities, to finance the promotion. Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Toronto franchise in the International League, backs the Toronto franchise with $2,500,000 of his own money.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The league - leading San Francisco Giants took time from the National League race Monday night to defeat Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League 5-0 in The Giants won on a pair of triples, a home run and the five-hit pitching of Al Worthington and Gordon Jones.

PARK SITE SOUGHT FOR BALL PARK

TORONTO (CP) — Alderman Kenneth Ostrander, parks committee chairman, said today he will ask the city to donate land in Riverdale Park for construction of a major league ball park.

Announcement that Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League have been granted a franchise to enter a third major baseball league is responsible for the request.

"We have to play ball with these people," said Mr. Ostrander.

MONEY ANOTHER MATTER

Controller Jean Newman commented: "I want to make it clear that while the city may donate some land, I don't propose to spend any money on the construction of a stadium."

A 35,000-seat stadium will be necessary for major league ball games in Toronto.

Mayor Phillips said today it is "premature to say" what city council will do if Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Maple Leafs, asks the city for help to build a new stadium.

Maple Leaf Stadium, home of Toronto's baseball team, has a 19,000-seat capacity.

COOKE HASN'T ASKED

The mayor said Mr. Cooke has not yet asked for financial help to build the new stadium.

Frederick Gardiner, chairman of Metropolitan Toronto council, congratulated Mr. Cooke on obtaining a berth in the major league and said:

"I hope that in some manner or other he will be able to finance the franchise and the other things needed for a major league club."

"Oh, heavens, I don't know how you could get along without the newspaper! You'd never know about sales or where to buy anything."

*From "The Functions of Newspapers for Their Readers," a study conducted for newspapers by Social Research, Inc.

NEWSPAPERS + PEOPLE = ACTION

Every day when newspapers and people get together, things start popping. News stories, editorials and features constantly arouse readers to action. So does the advertising. Without it, as the lady says, "You'd never know about sales or where to buy anything."

Newspaper advertising differs from many other kinds because it is wanted. People not only look for advertising in the newspaper — they act upon it. They buy from it.

That's why more money is spent in newspapers than in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined.

Nearly 4,000,000 newspapers are bought daily, providing news, features, information — and advertising. If it's action you want — action you'll get — from your advertising in the action medium, the daily newspaper.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Annual Checkup Urged As Protective Measure

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

WHAT you don't know might hurt you. So get the facts, fast — with an annual health audit. I don't know how many times I have urged you to have a thorough checkup at least once each year. But this advice is just as sound today as it was the first time I mentioned it, over forty years ago.

A SUGGESTION

To help you get as thorough an examination as possible, I suggest you request the following:

Have all organs — even if they appear to be functioning perfectly — tested for their efficiency.

There are tests which will indicate how these organs react to a challenge and how they rate for future endurance. Not only should they be tested at rest, but also under stress. For example, there is the Haines cold-water test for future high blood pressure and the Master test for the heart.

USED AS AN AID

An anatomical test might reveal conditions which can be used as an aid to health and possibly in prolonging life.

Of course the doctor will take your complete medical history. If you see him every year, this is a relatively simple matter.

Opening lead—queen of hearts. I don't know why it is, but there are always a few readers who just won't believe some of the things written in this column. Nor would I be at all surprised if these fine people, after they read this hand, are more convinced than ever of the righteousness of their stand.

Be that a sit may, it seems that tournament bridge has of late become so tremendously popular that, in a weekend tournament recently conducted in Texas by the American Contract Bridge League, a horse showed up to play in the pair event.

After paying his dollar entrance fee, the horse sat down to play. On the very first hand out of the box he picked up the South duke.

Naturally, he opened with a two-bid. (The horse was playing strong two-bids.) When his partner raised, the horse named the club suit and, over the four diamond bid, showed heart control.

Quite properly, the horse then bid a grand slam when North, on top of his previous bids, also announced secondary club support.

The hand would ordinarily have been a laydown, but it turned out, unfortunately, that East had all five missing clubs.

South won the heart lead, drew five rounds of trumps, cashed his other high heart, and led a low club to the queen. West showed out.

The horse shook his head sadly, cashed the ace of diamonds, led out all his clubs, and lost the last club to East, going down one in his maiden effort.

Naturally, quite a lot of spectators had been watching the horse play. It's not every day that a horse enters a bridge tournament.

One of the kibitzers turned to the horse after the hand was over and said: "How come you didn't take the diamond finesse when West showed out of clubs? It was your only chance to make the hand."

"Don't be ridiculous," replied the horse. "Who ever heard of a horse taking a finesse?"

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW
Some good aspects now govern business matters—especially in the forenoon. Be astute, however, and do nothing impulsively. Personal relationships are favored by especially good influences.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you may be faced with some complex financial situations between now and the end of November. They may well be of your own making, however, since your chart presages satisfactory gains for the balance of 1959. It will be your own lack of restraint in spending that could cause the damage.

so keep alert. Remember that to be forewarned is to be forearmed.

Job matters should go well in this new year in your life, with special rewards indicated during October and December, and, except for a brief period late in December, family affairs should also run smoothly. Use extreme tact during this period. Late November and mid-December will be fine for romance; also next May and June. Some good news of a business nature, in December, should get you off to a fine start early in 1960—especially if you are engaged in creative work.

A child born on this day will be highly intuitive, would make an excellent dramatist or musician.

Coconut Husking Good Past-Time In South Seas

By J. C. Graham

Canadian Press Correspondent

AVARUA, Cook Islands (CP)—Where other countries hold contests in log rolling, wood chopping or sheep shearing, the natives of the South Pacific compete keenly in coconut husking. They claim to be world champions at the art.

In copra making, the fibre husk surrounding the coconut must first be stripped off. The average person might worry away at this outer husk for a long time in trying to remove it. South Sea Islanders can husk a nut in seconds. The method favored in the Pacific islands is to set a needle-sharp stake point upward in the ground and thrust the coconut vigorously on to the point, then strip the outer husk away from the inner nut.

It looks a highly-dangerous operation, but the islanders become exceedingly skilled at it.

Husking contests are a feature of most big occasions on some of the islands.

Recently, a record was claimed at Atiu Island, in the Cook group of the South Pacific. Now another island of the same group, Manihiki, has claimed the record.

George Karaponga, of Tuku village, picked coconuts at random off a heap and husked 260 in 28 minutes. His best burst was 51 in five minutes.

Women of the same island are also in training for a female record and claim that they will be able to return a figure of at least 260 coconuts an hour.

MERRY MENAGERIE

While this might not seem important to you, it is a great help to the doctor in trying to determine what might happen in the future as well as at present. Heredity, too, plays a major role in the overall picture.

The doctor will also want to know how you spend your work day and your leisure hours.

ORAL REPORT

A comprehensive oral report will generally be of great value

PSYCHOLOGICAL EXAMINATION

Another important aspect of any general overall checkup is a psychological examination. Perhaps it would pay to consult a psychiatrist if you have any grave concerns or troublesome mental habits which are affecting your physical well being.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. E.A.M.: What is myopia? Will a child afflicted with this have to wear glasses the rest of his life or will the glasses correct the condition?

Answer: Myopia is nearsightedness. The condition often increases until the age of 18 or 20 and then becomes stable. In later years it may improve somewhat.

Glasses are necessary to permit comfortable vision and to slow up the progressive process. Usually they will be necessary throughout life.

CATTLE MATTRESSES Plastic-covered foam mattresses for cattle which fit exactly to the standard size compartment in a byre are now being produced in Britain. This "feather bedding" is the novel idea of Major Anthony Bramley, an Oxfordshire, England, farmer, who has already received inquiries from New Zealand, America and most European countries, and whose herd of Friesian cattle are now sleeping comfortably on these new mattresses.

tion is the largest open-air display and demonstration of building plant and equipment ever held in Britain and 118 manufacturers and distributors are showing their latest machines and equipment.

Austrian Army Fights Floods

VIENNA (Reuters)—The Austrian army, police and fire brigades were called out to help in rescue operations as floods covered large areas of Austria and Hungary.

A state of emergency was declared in dozens of villages isolated after almost a week of rain. Thousands of persons have been evacuated and thousands more cut off by floods.

THERE'S A FUTURE IN AVIATION

FIRST FLIGHT — Britain's "Hovercraft"—a wonder machine that is neither ship nor plane but rides on an artificially created cushion of air—made its first public flight recently across the channel. Known as the "SR-N1 Hovercraft" the experimental machine—British invented, British designed and British built—flew forwards, sideways and backwards only 15 inches above the land and above the sea. In this picture the "Hovercraft" is seen as it is put through its paces at East Cowes by chief test pilot Peter Lamb of the Saunders-Roe Company. Carrying an observer and two mechanics, the oval-shaped craft weighing nearly four tons is seen above the ground supported by its cushion of air.

Brazil; Olga Pumarero, Colombia; Pamela Searle, England; Francoise Saint-Laurent, France. Centre row, Carmela Kunzel, Germany; Zoe Koyroky, Greece; Sigridur Thorvaldsdottir, Iceland; Rina Issacov, Israel; Akiko Kojima, Japan. Front row, Hyon Choo Oh, Korea; Jorunn Kristiansen, Norway; Suzanna Cembrowska, Poland; Marie Louise Ekstrom, Sweden, and Terry Lynn Huntington, U.S.A.

FIRST "BRITANNIA" — The Royal Air Force recently received the first of its new long-range transports, the Bristol Britannia 243, at a ceremony held at the Royal Air Force Station at Lyneham in Wiltshire. Here one of the three Britannias handed over is seen in flight.

BRITAIN'S "HOVERCRAFT" — a wonder machine that is neither ship nor plane but rides on an artificially created cushion of air—had at the controls the chief test pilot of Saunders-Roe, Mr. Peter Lamb (left) and watching the demonstration of the craft, flying forwards, sideways, and backwards, over land and sea was the man who was seeing the realization of a dream that began six years ago. He was 49-year-old Mr.

Christopher Cockerell (right), the British boatbuilder, who had the idea of a craft riding on a cushion of air and who started work on the Hovercraft as a private venture in 1953.

Anglers Fly To La Ronge Sport Resort

LA RONGE, Sask. (CP)—This Northern Saskatchewan sport fishing resort has ample evidence that this is the age of the flying fisherman. During summer, rows of United States-licensed planes may be seen at the jetty at Lac La Ronge, a clear, broad expanse of water, 140 miles north of Prince Albert. They range from single-engined two-seaters to luxurious twin-engined aircraft.

One day last June there were 27 light planes at La Ronge airport, or on the lake, end of the line for most of the tourist-fishermen who come from the American mid-west after large lake trout.

A few like to explore new fishing sites at Stony Rapids, Creco Lake, Green Lake and the Uranium City area of Lake Athabasca.

The Saskatchewan Government Airway estimates that 600 planes flew into La Ronge last year, a figure expected to increase by 25 per cent this year.
